

Ends Dyspepsia And Stomach Troubles

A Magnesia Balm for the Stomach Neutralizes Dangerous Acids That Cause Indigestion, Gas and Heartburn.

It is useless, dangerous and unnecessary to be tortured with the sour, burning pain of indigestion, heartburn, gastritis and dyspepsia when a teaspoonful of a few tablets of ordinary Bismarck Magnesia taken in a little water will promptly end the trouble without hurting the stomach in any way.

Bismarck Magnesia quickly masters digestive disturbances because it reaches the real source of stomach trouble—excess of acid in the stomach which poisons and irritates the stomach lining and causes the partially digested food to sour, ferment and burn. Bismarck Magnesia makes right down into your acid-inflamed stomach and quickly cleans out and neutralizes every trace of excess acid that is bitter, cooks, soothes and heals the stomach walls and makes the food contents bland and sweet. All the pain and discomfort, the gas, wind, sour rising and full, bloated feeling vanish like magic. You can almost hear your stomach say "thank you." Relieved of the acid, the stomach naturally and peacefully "you eat what you please and never feel indigestion."

It does not matter whether you have only occasional attacks or have a long-standing chronic case of stomach trouble. Bismarck Magnesia is equally effective in both cases. It is a safe, sure, and reliable remedy. It is dispensed by leading druggists everywhere in both tablet and powder form. Be sure to get Bismarck Magnesia in liquid, milk or lump form it is not genuine.

Hotchkiss was kicking right and left while the leaders were being adjusted and had to be dragged along up Bath street, and finally cuffed enough when he reached headquarters.

WEDDING.
Kane—Stevens.

On Wednesday evening Miss Teresa Kane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Stevens of 183 West Thames street became the bride of William A. Kane of Geneva, N. Y.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. H. Broderick at 4 o'clock, in the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends. The bride was prettily attired in a gown of white satin and chiffon, trimmed with rose point lace. Her veil of tulle was held by a white and orange ribbon. The groom carried a shower bouquet of bride roses, single gladioli and maiden-hair fern.

Her sister, Miss Vera Stevens, was her only attendant. She wore a nice green crepe de chine gown and carried an arm bouquet of lavender as well as a train of white flowers.

Daniel Kane, the groom's brother, acted as best man.

The bride's gift to the groom was a sapphire of diamonds set in platinum. To her maid of honor the bride gave a sapphire of diamonds set in platinum. The groom's gift to the bride was a brooch of diamonds set in platinum. His gift to his best man was gold cuff links.

A reception was held at the bride's home and a program of music was rendered by Geer's orchestra who were stationed in the hall behind a screen of palms. The musical program was as follows:

Nevin, Suite, Debussy; Excerpts from Blue Paradise, Eysler; Lullaby from Sylvia, Waldteufel; Barcarolle (Tales of Hoffman), Offenbach.

Selections from Modiste, Herbert; The Blue Bird was served by the Waitress. The home was beautifully decorated with roses, palms, lilies, pink dahlias and pink gladioli. Social favors were effectively used in the hall, twinkling the balustrade.

The dining room was attractively done in the color scheme of lavender and green, the bride's class colors at college. The bride's table was decorated with white centerpieces, with flowers with maiden hair ferns and lighted with candles, with dainty green shades.

The bride was the recipient of many beautiful gifts including checks from the parents of the bride and groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Kane left for a wedding trip. On their return they will go to their new home at Hillcrest avenue, Geneva, N. Y. She will be traveling a Rookie fall. She wore a dress and a blue hat with trimmings to match the dress.

The bride has spent most of her life in Norwich. She is a graduate of the Norwich Free Academy, also of William Smith college. She was in Germany for a course of study but was forced to return home at the outbreak of the war. For three years she has been charge of the German department in the Port Chester High school.

Mr. Kane is a graduate of Geneva High school and Harvard college. He is engaged in the banking and insurance business in his home town, Geneva, N. Y.

The guests attending from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Symington, the bride's sister, her husband, Robert Stevens of New Haven, Daniel Kane, Miss Josephine Kane, Miss Elizabeth Kane, Daniel Kane, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Stewart McKee, all of Geneva; Miss Olive Styler of Phelps, N. METROPOLIS MISSING WITH FUNDS

Saratoga Restaurant Proprietor Leaves Bills Totalling $1800 Behind Him—Was in New York When Last Heard From

Letter to Cook Says He Isn't Coming Back.

John D. Metropolis, who in partnership with Michael Panopolis has conducted the Saratoga restaurant on Broadway for the past eleven months, has been missing for nearly two weeks having taken with him funds of the company to the amount of nearly $2,000, it is said.

On Sunday, August 5, the last day that Metropolis was seen in town, he went to his place of business in the morning as usual, and stayed there a few hours, later going home. In the afternoon he returned and told his partner, Panopolis, who has charge of the kitchen, that he might go home and rest.

Panopolis left the restaurant but did not go home, returning a short time later. Not finding Metropolis there he inquired and found that his partner had left the place just after he had gone out. Panopolis went to the desk where he found a note from Metropolis reading "I have gone to New Haven and will be back in a few days."

Upon opening the cash register Panopolis found that his partner had taken all the money from it. Also, $1200, earned in the past week, was drawn from the bank the sum of $500 which belonged to the company. Metropolis had had charge of the dining room and handled all the money, his partner being in charge of the kitchen.

Panopolis says that he is not certain as to the amount of money that his partner has taken, but thinks it is well over a thousand dollars. It is well over a thousand dollars if it is all Metropolis had had on Saturday and Sunday's receipts, together with an amount which had not been deposited in the bank but was kept by Metropolis.

On Monday, August 6th, Panopolis received a telephone message from his partner in New York. Metropolis said that everything was all right and asking about the business. Metropolis said his partner that he would be home soon. Panopolis thought nothing more of the incident until a few days later he says he received a letter from Metropolis saying that he was sorry but he would not be back as he could not live with his wife. It seems that Metropolis had domestic troubles for some time and that a few days previous to his leaving there had been a heated argument. The letter received by Panopolis is the last heard of Metropolis.

When Metropolis left with the funds he also left behind about $1,800 in unpaid bills for his partner to meet. Metropolis lived at 40 West Main street and has a wife and one child.

Metropolis was registered here on July 5, and his room number being 592 and his order number 1562.

OBITUARY

Henry A. Sil.

There was local interest Wednesday in the announcement of the death, August 15th, of Henry A. Sil, 48, of Cornwall University. He was the son of the late Rev. Thomas Henry and Jane Burgess Sil, and husband of Al- berto Burgess Sil.

Mr. Sil's widow is the daughter of George Shipman Payson, at one time a teacher at Norwich Free Academy.

Mrs. Henrietta Molt Boggs.

News has been received in Norwich of the death Monday at her home in New Brunswick, N. J., of Henrietta Eugenie Molt, wife of the late Admiral Molt, and daughter of Mrs. Boggs, formerly of Norwich. Mrs. Boggs was a daughter of the late Angeline and Theodore Frederick Molt. For a number of years previous to 1877 she made her home with her sister, Mrs. Marie Louise Alzer, first on Williams street, later in the house on Broadway now the residence of Miss Shipley.

She leaves three half-sisters, Florence and Effie (Mrs. Bignell), who made their home with her in New Brunswick, N. J., and Mirna, now married and living in Canada.

Another sister, Miss Mathilde Molt, who died in Germany about three years ago, is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Molt, who is a teacher in a school in Norwich and also taught the French classes at Norwich Free Academy for several months. During the absence in Europe of the regular teacher, Miss Emma J. Shipley, of Norwich.

Mrs. Boggs' husband, Admiral Boggs, died in New Jersey during '88. Her sister, Mrs. Charles C. Alzer, who had gone abroad with her daughter, Lucile, after the death of Mr. Alzer, and was accompanied by Miss Mathilde Molt, died in Germany in 1877 and the body was brought to Norwich for burial in the Alger lot in Yantic cemetery.

Mrs. Boggs was a skilled musician, and for a time taught music here. Her services are to be held at St. Peter's church, New Brunswick, this (Thursday) morning.

Recent naval transfers include Capt. Clarence Carr from Brooklyn, N. Y., to League Island, Philadelphia, in charge of supplies. Captain Carr's wife was Blanche Lanman, formerly of Norwich.

LOCAL CHAMBER REPRESENTED.

Three Norwich Men Guests at Farm Bureau Conference.

The State Farm Bureau Conference held at the Connecticut College at Storrs this week, one of the judges from the first day's proceedings, will go far toward placing Connecticut, in the front rank of progressive states insofar as conservation and advancing her agricultural possibilities is concerned. The program, as prepared by those having in charge the Extension Service of the College looked well to the practical side of every question now confronting the nation as regards the supplying of sufficient food for our army abroad and our needs at home.

Practical talks by practical men and women who are giving their whole time to the all absorbing study of Food Supply and Home Economics are the only ones finding a place in the long list of speakers to be found upon the three day's program.

Tuesday, August 14th, the opening day of the conference, presented as speakers such noted men supporting the state agricultural resource as: C. L. Beach, President Connecticut Agricultural College; Robert Scoville, President of the United States Farm Bureau and State Representative of the Federal Food Commission; Col. Charles M. Jarvis, President Hartford County Farm Bureau; and Mr. W. A. Alsop, Trustee Connecticut Agricultural College.

President Scoville of Litchfield County has been the initial speaker and his thorough acquaintance with the general subject for discussion, "The Problems We Face During the Next Eight Months," gave everyone present a greater insight and knowledge of our great agricultural weaknesses here in Connecticut. President Scoville said in opening that the cultural problems were based upon labor, that which affects every productive industry. In no other labor can time be wasted more than on a farm. Some of the vital problems in connection with efficient farm management are: Efficient farm equipment, crop rotation, live stock and dairying, swine improvement. Mr. Scoville stated that ten weeks old pigs in Connecticut rarely weigh thirty pounds in weight, where in Kansas and other Western states sixty pounds was the average weight. We must change our breeds, as New England stock has run out.

The subject of marketing held the attention of everyone present because of its bearing to the farmer. Mr. Scoville stated that the farmer should have a public market, as in the case of the public market in New York, to purchase three times a day, three hundred and sixty-five days in the year. Every community, regardless of size, should have a public market. Mr. Scoville in reply to a question put to him during intermission, Marketing has fallen into the hands of a few men who have an axe to grind but no remedies. Public opinion is awaiting anxiously for some solution. Certain things can be done to make the market more profitable on the part of the producer. Trust your neighbor. Without organization you trade with individuals. Dangers are involved in the present method of investment by the farmer and no bookkeeping system, without
